

Why Certification in CPTED

Certification is a way to clearly indicate to your employer, your clients and your colleagues that you are qualified and prepared to perform the duties expected of a competent CPTED practitioner in a professional manner.

ICA certification indicates that you are more than trained; you have put your training to the test in real life projects and demonstrated competencies – that is the core of the ICA certification program.

With Demonstrated competencies, rather than knowledge from a written test that can be studied and forgotten, or a training course you could sleep through, this program combines knowledge with real-world experience to demonstrate a deep understanding of CPTED.

Mission:

To create safer environments and improve the quality of life through the use of CPTED principles

Anyone with training and experience in CPTED can practice it. However, this will not ensure that a minimum level of competency has been achieved. That is why the ICA and the ICA Accreditation Program was created.

In order to become an ICA Certified CPTED Practitioner it is necessary to obtain in-depth knowledge of CPTED principles. But knowledge alone is not enough. It is also necessary to obtain the skills and experience to do work in CPTED. A degree in urban design, crime prevention, security or architecture may be helpful, but it is not required. Knowledge, skills, and experience is!

HOW DO YOU BEGIN?

Your application includes your background, experience and CPTED training. You create your own professional Record Book and begin to list CPTED projects you feel satisfy the certification competencies. You then record names of those that can verify your accomplishments. Your Record Book will include copies of CPTED project reports, PowerPoint presentations you have given, articles you have written and other documents to support your application.
